

Celebration
Assembly
Friday 7th
January 2021

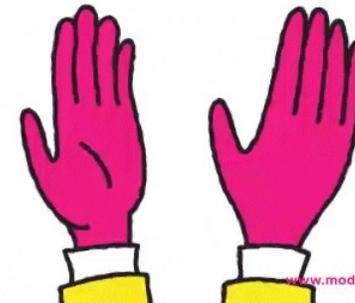

Augustus counted in 2's with his socks and made a clever washing line to display them.

Theo painted a beautiful picture of a butterfly.

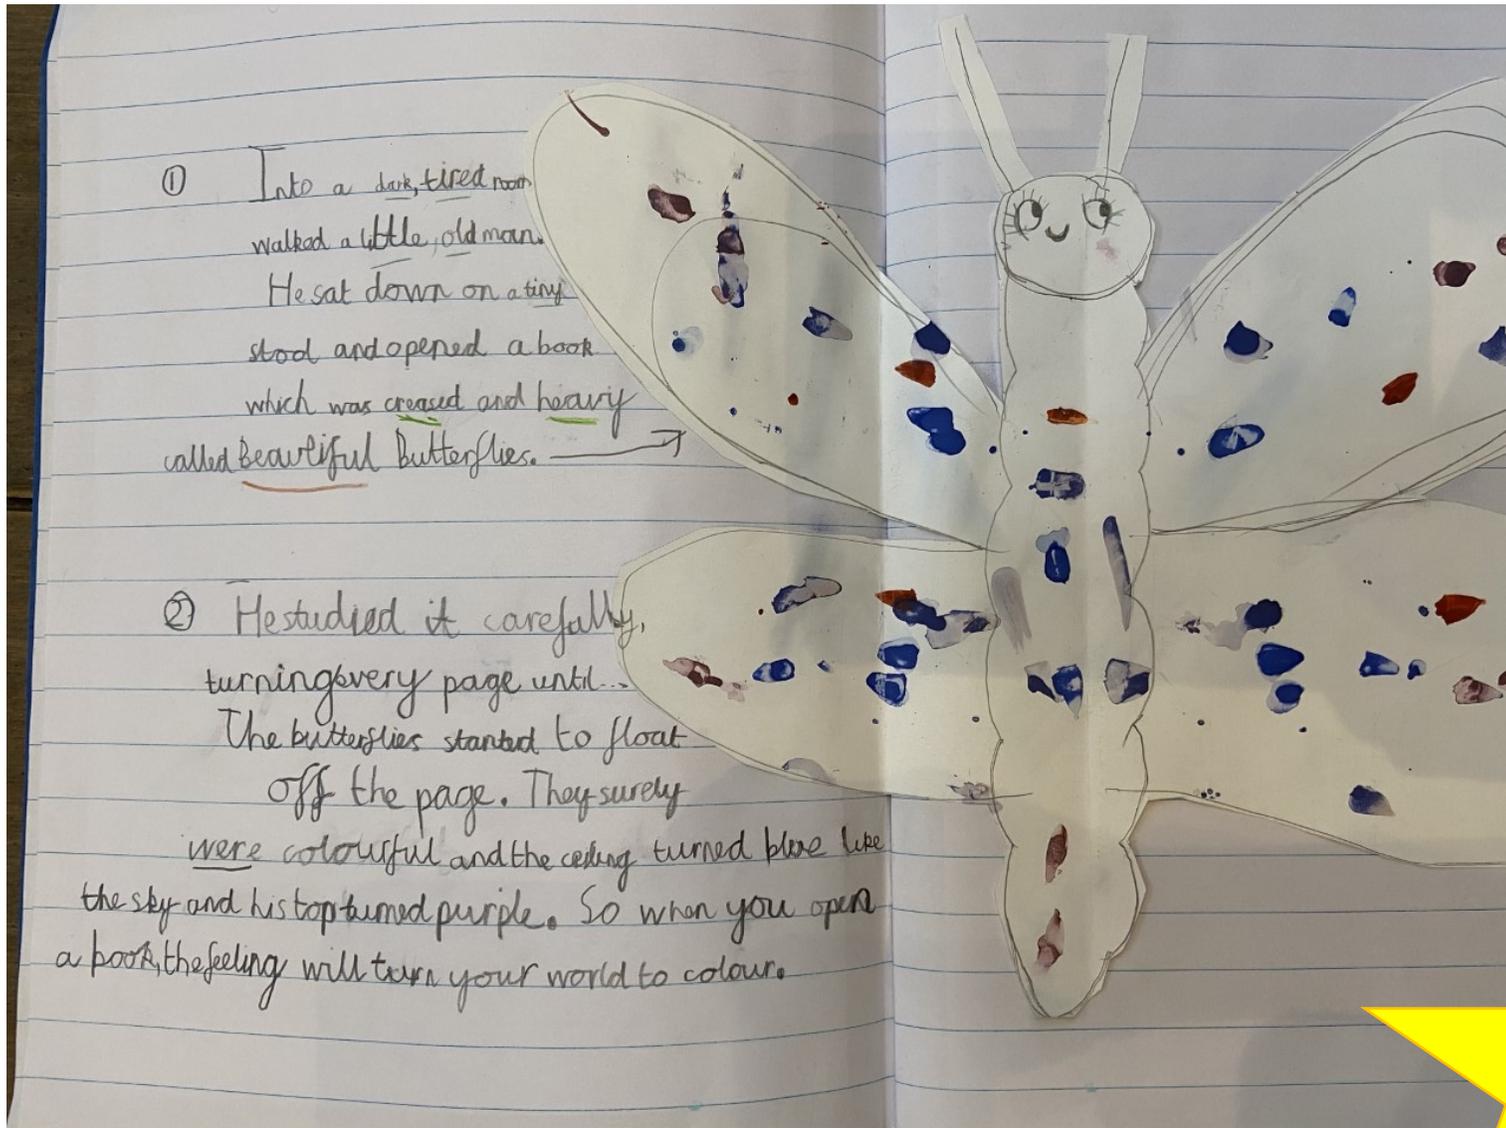

Good job

www.modicum.agency

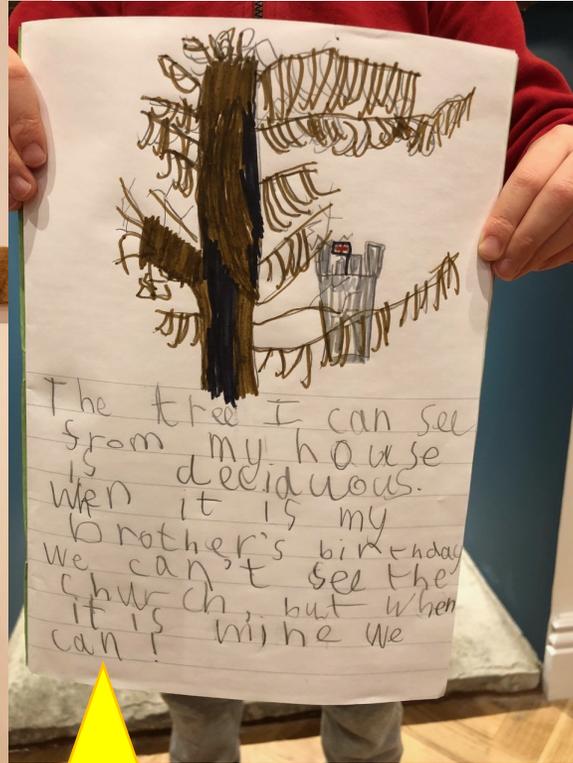

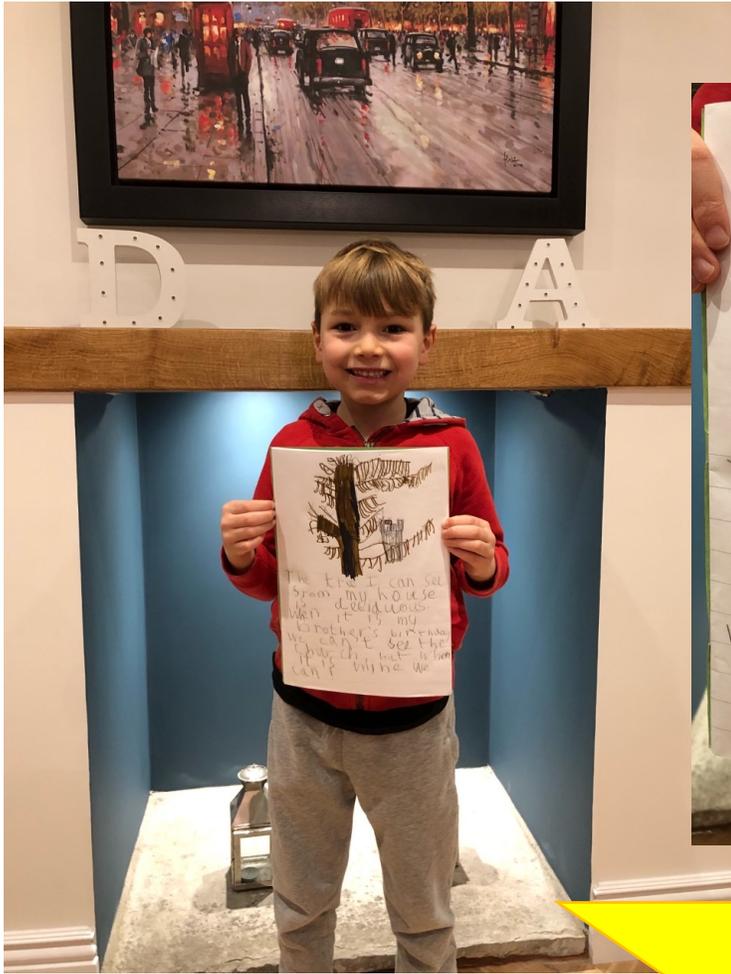

① Into a dark, tired room
walked a little, old man.
He sat down on a tiny stool and opened a book which was creased and heavy called Beautiful Butterflies.

② He studied it carefully, turning every page until...
The butterflies started to float off the page. They surely were colourful and the ceiling turned blue like the sky and his top turned purple. So when you open a book, the feeling will turn your world to colour.

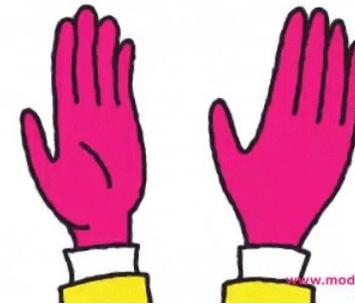

Joe S has written a wonderful story with some super adjectives. Lovely handwriting and picture Joe!

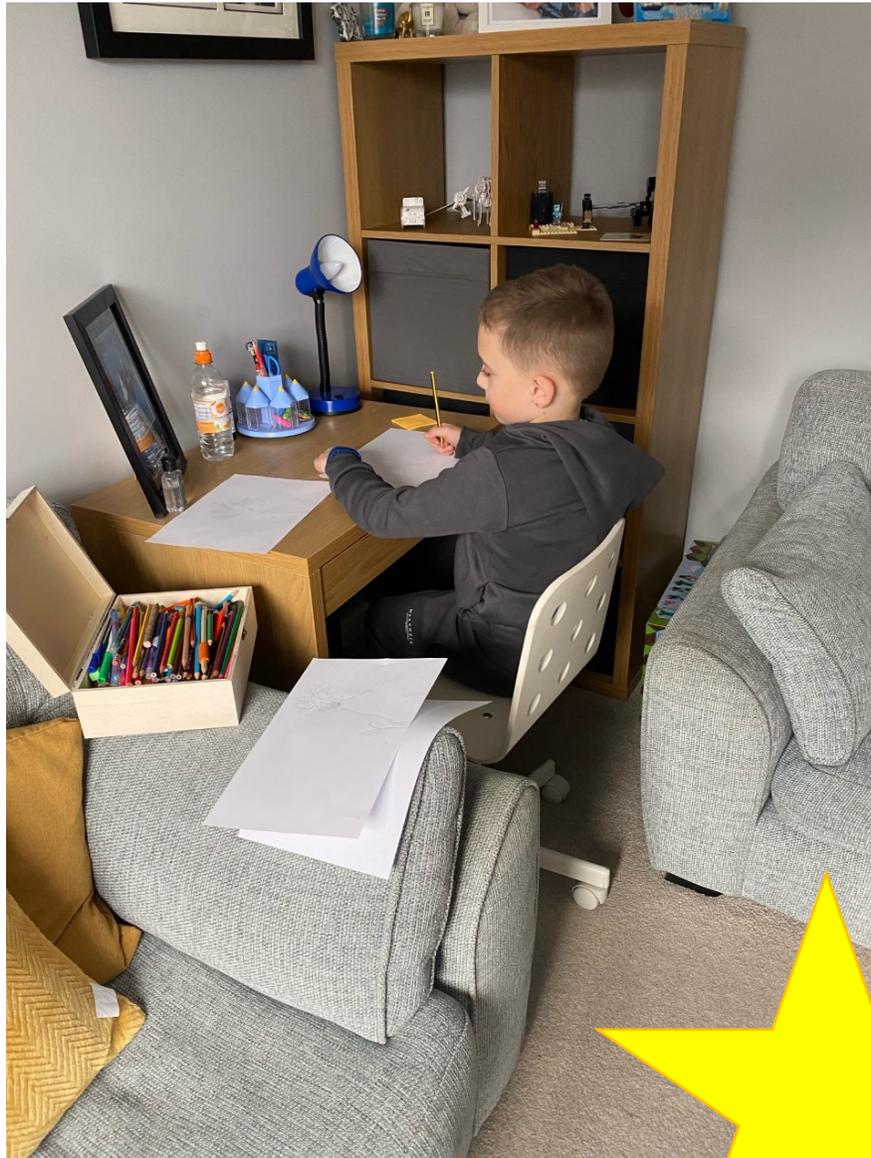

Arlo enjoyed drawing a tree in his garden. I love the observation that in November you can't see the church but in May you can!

Good job

James has a wonderful set up here! I love the little chair, the pen pot and even the light! You will produce some good work here I know you will. Have you enough pencils in that box?

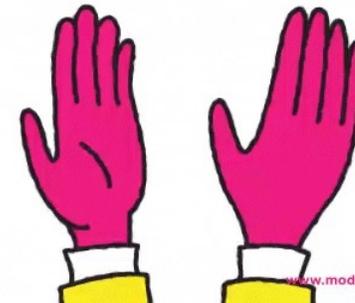

Imogen is having fun counting in 2's with her toys and she looks like she is trying to teach her cat?

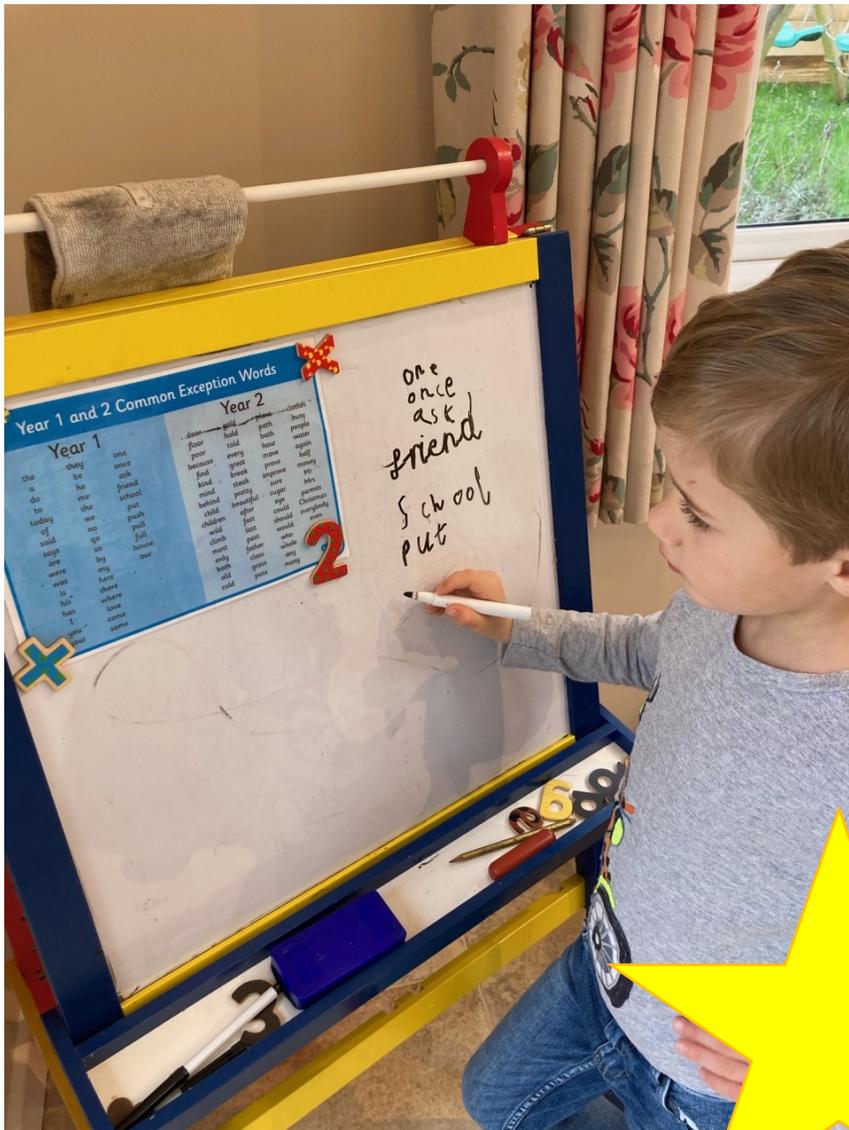

Paige drawing her winter person.

Good job

www.modicum.agency

Tommy is practising his common exception words on a lovely easel.

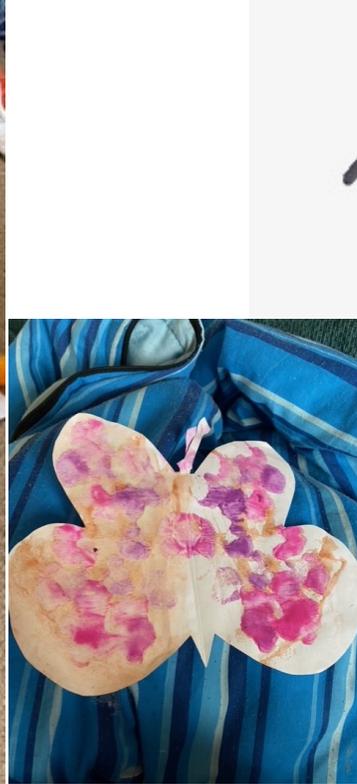

Good job

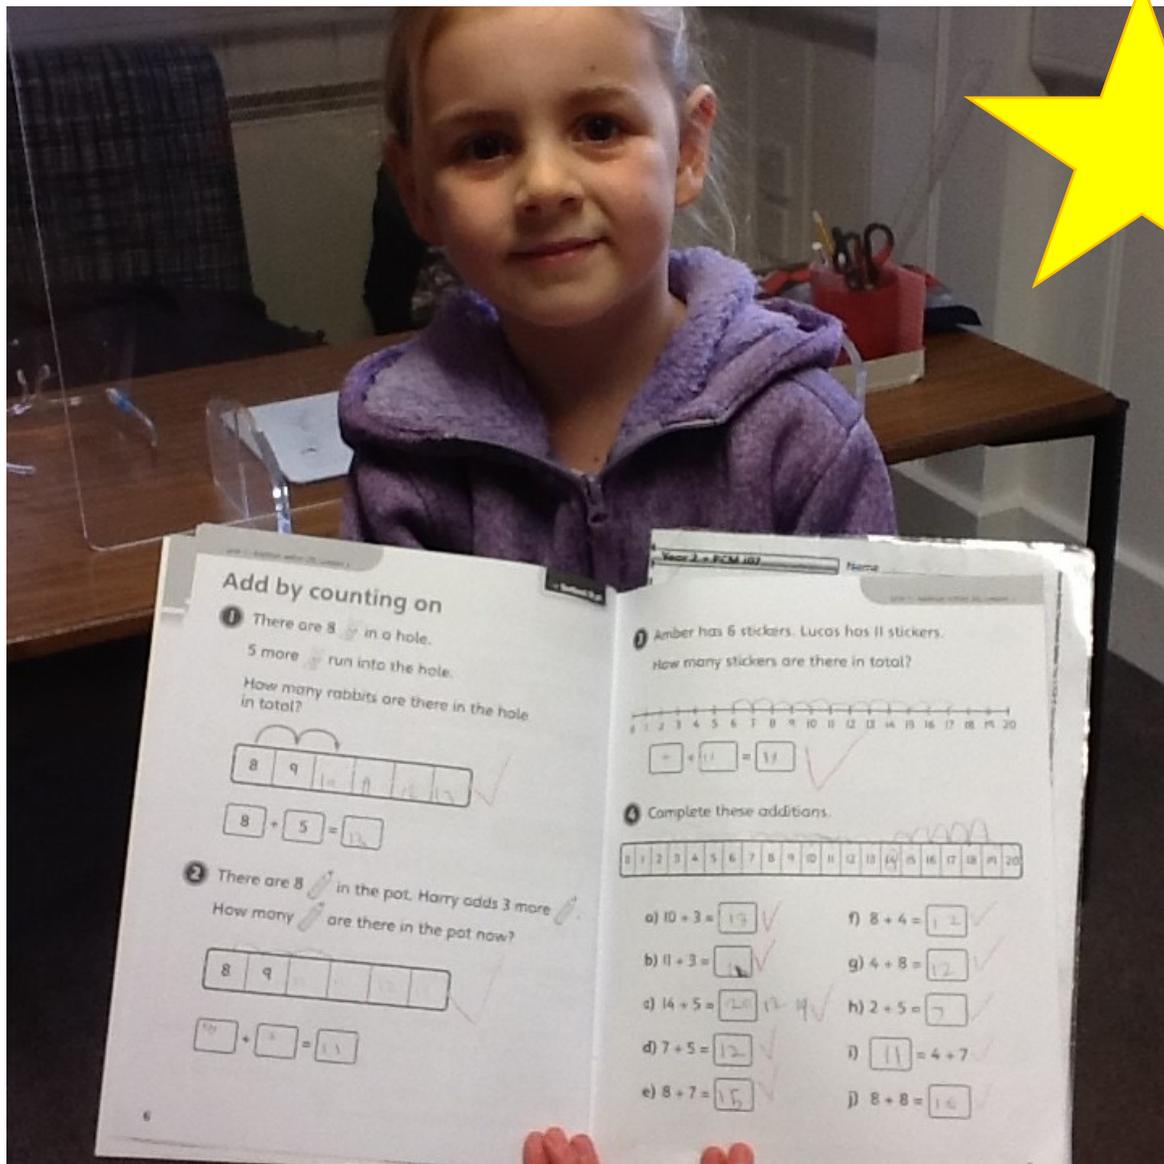

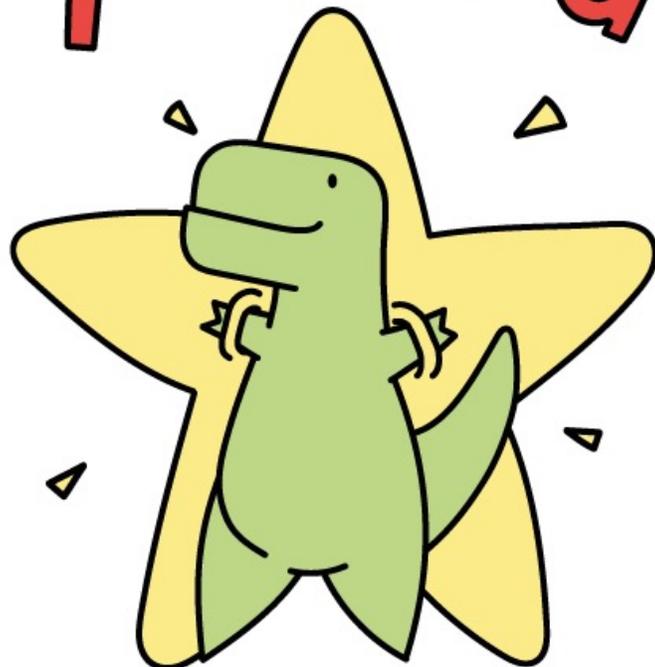

Benji enjoyed painting his Christmas tree with the lights. It was his favourite memory of Christmas.

You're a

STAR!

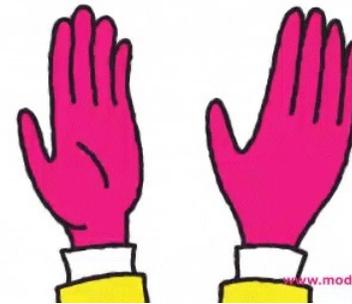

LoofandTimmy.com

Sky drawing a winter tree.

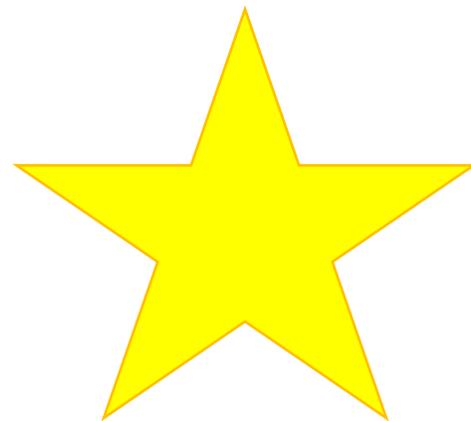

Good job

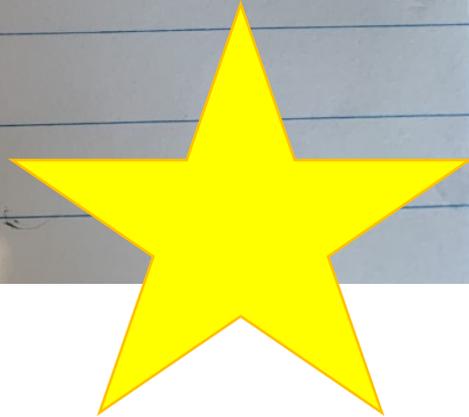

www.modicum.agency

Alexandra's work.

A man and a boy are watching TV. The sunrise is very colourful outside the window. The man walks into a room and sits on a stool. He starts to read a book on butterflies. As he was reading he saw beautiful butterflies appear out of the book. He watched them as they flew around his head.

Caleb has completed some beautiful writing, that is really neat Caleb.

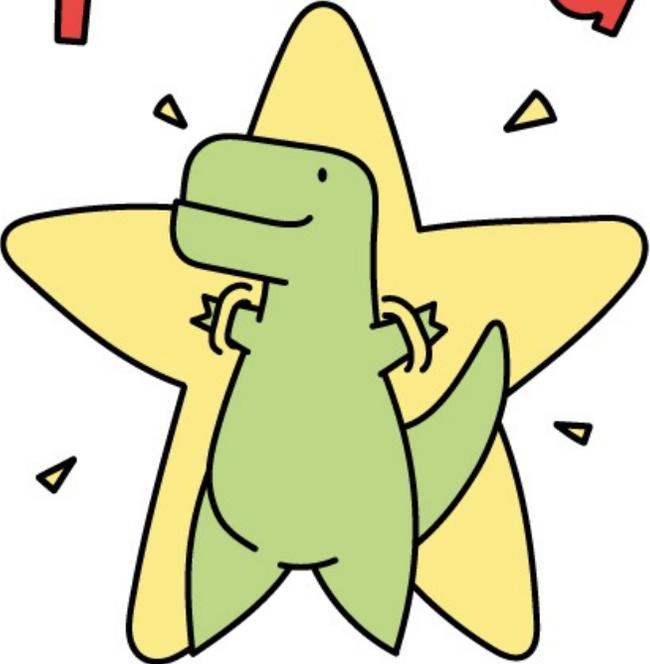

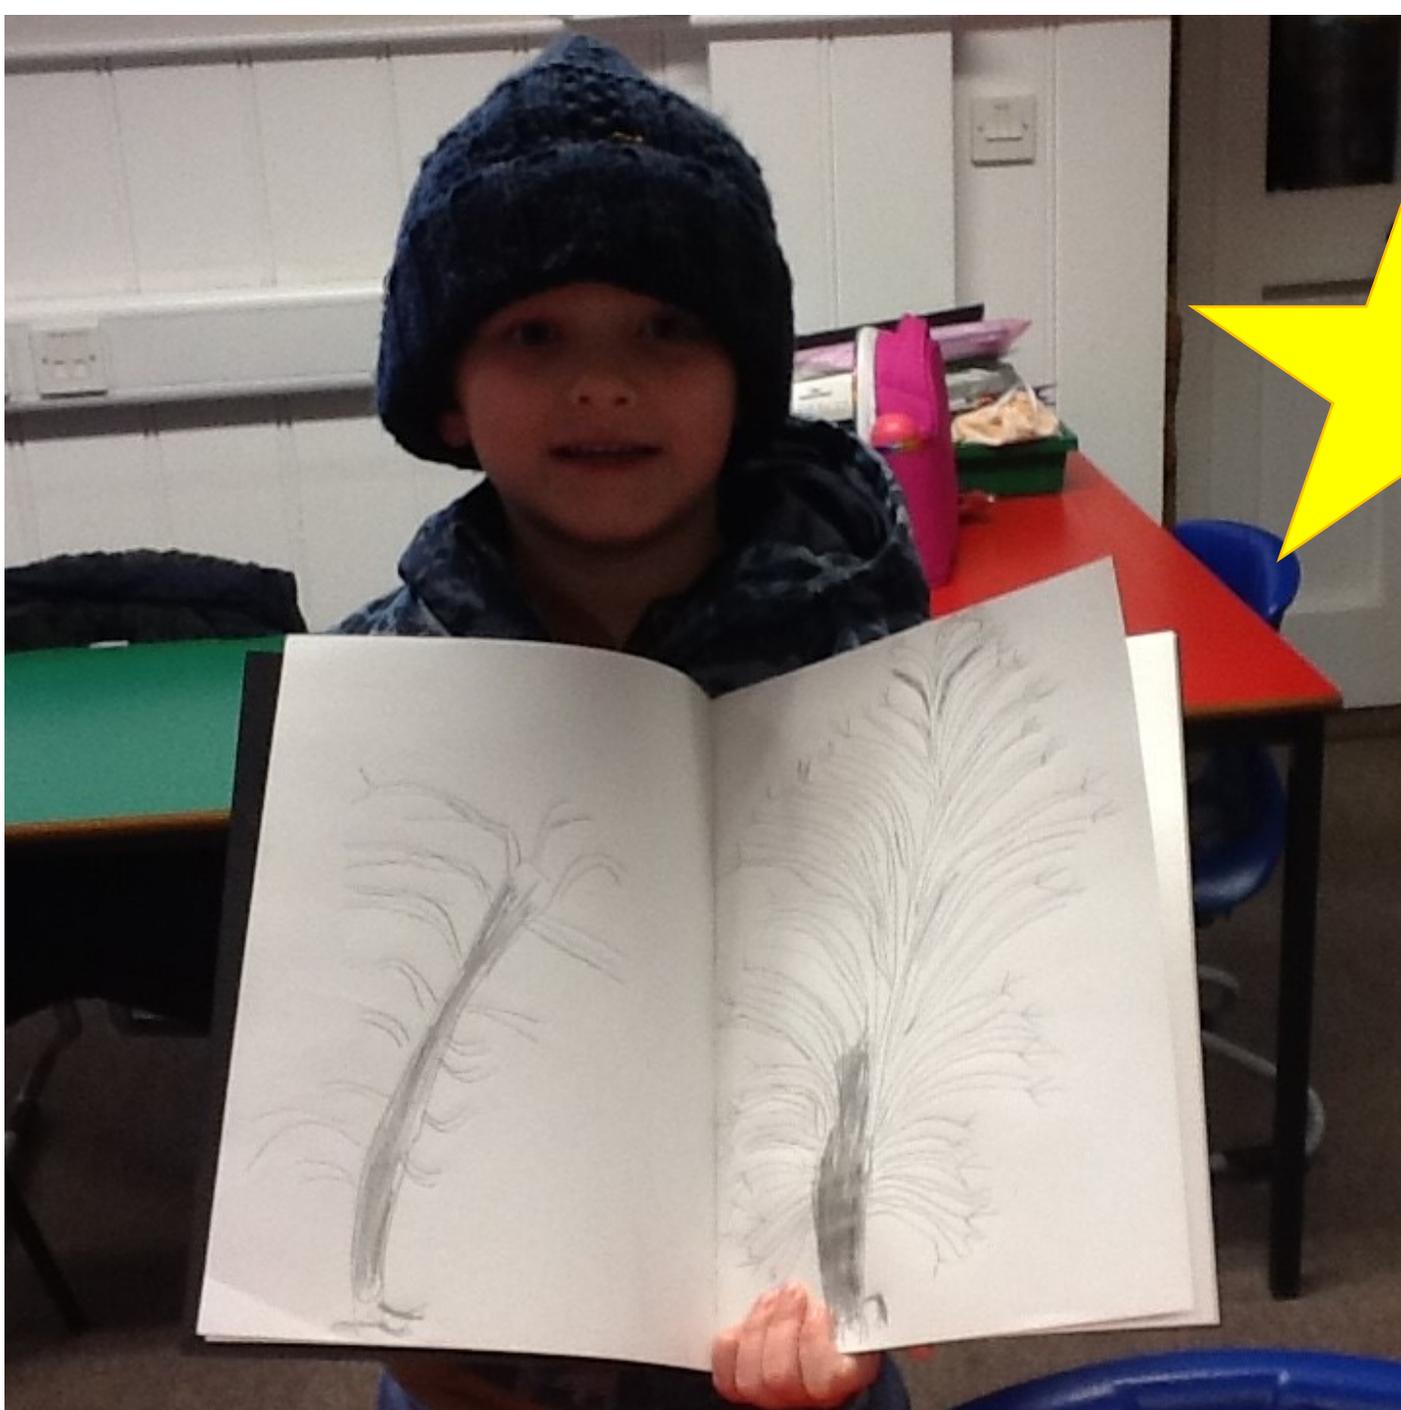

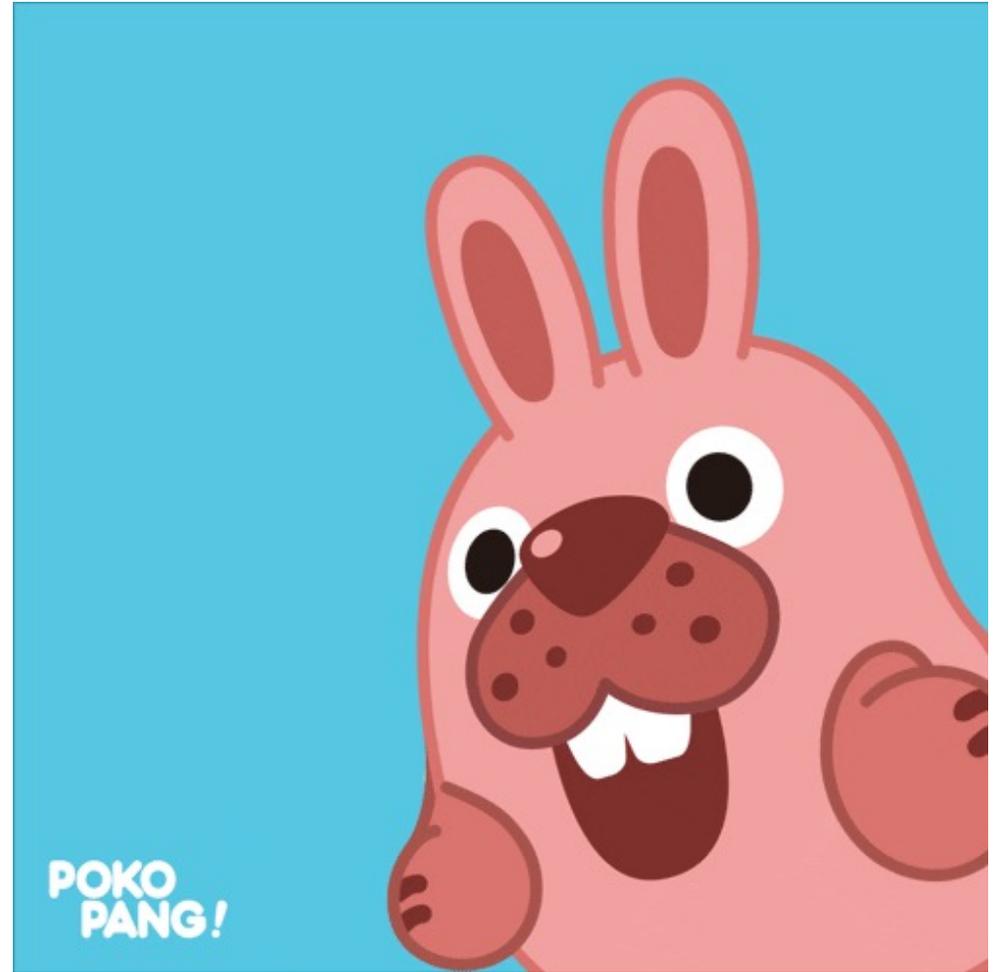

You're a

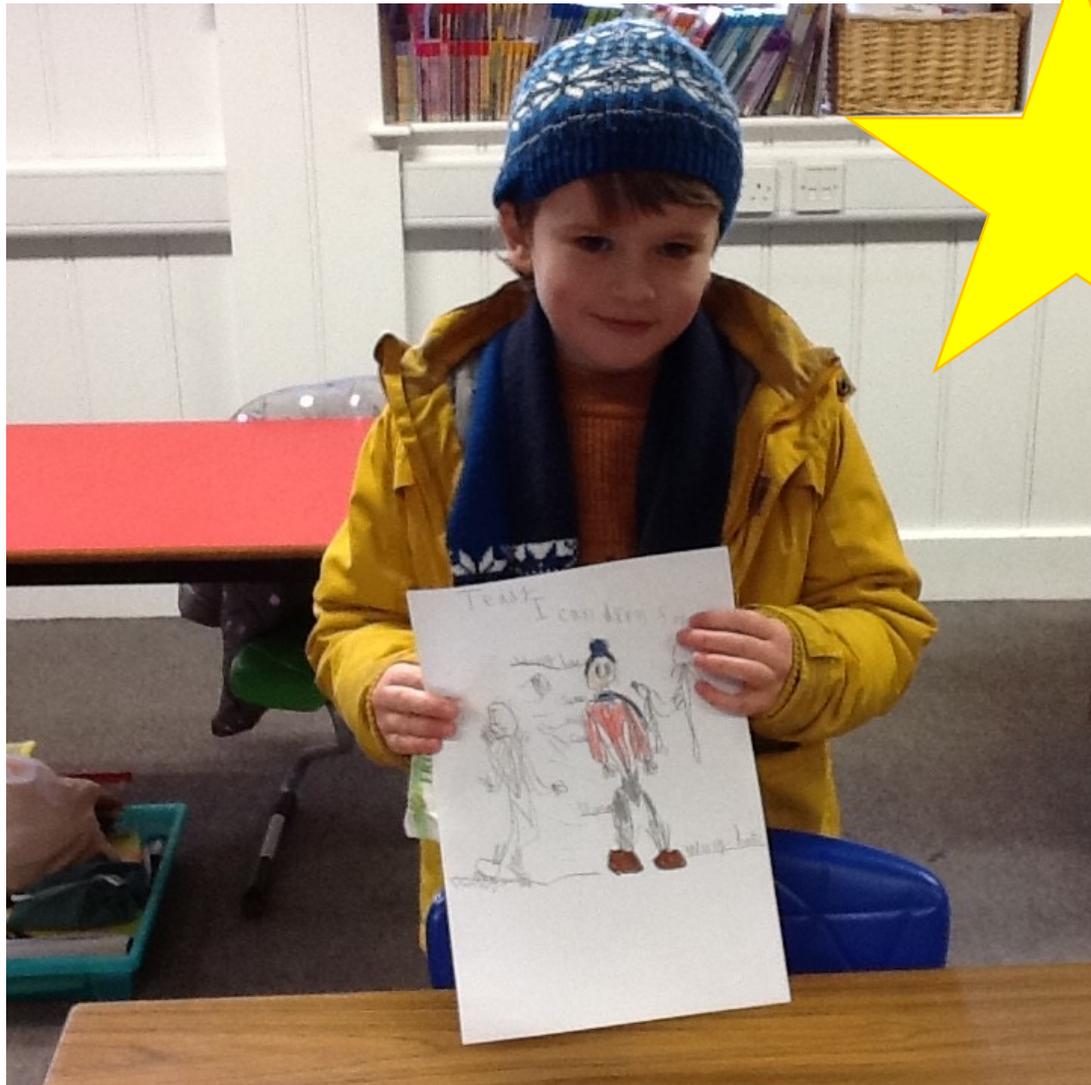

STAR!

LoofandTimmy.com

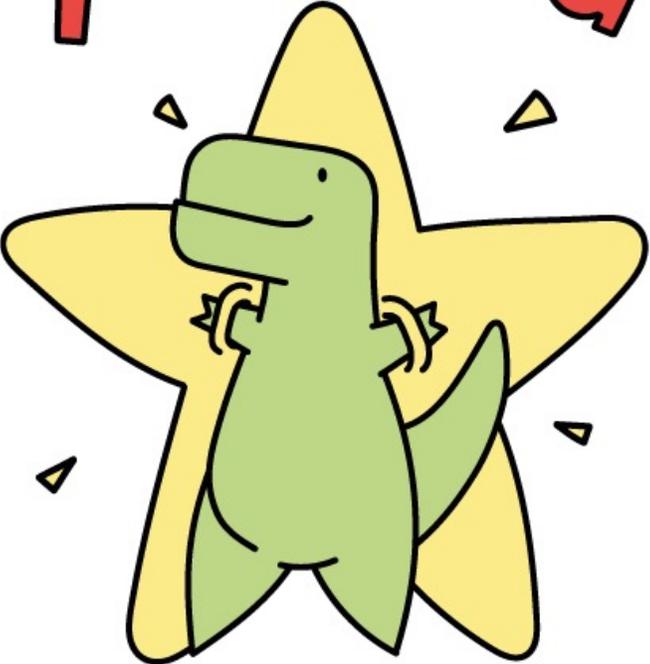

Teddy

You're a

STAR!

LoofandTimmy.com

